WHAT OUR CLIENTS SAY

"Sotero has been an invaluable partner in strengthening our services across the region. Their ability to source and deploy experienced, highly capable clinicians - often at short notice - has made a real difference in continuity of care in our communities."

Their deep understanding of regional workforce challenges, combined with clinical leadership and professionalism, sets them apart. Working with Sotero feels less like contracting a service and more like adding a trusted extension to our own team."

Margaret Bennett, Chief Executive Southern NSW Local Health District

WHAT OUR STAFF SAY

"From the moment I expressed interest in joining the Sotero team, they provided clear and consistent communication, answering all my questions and guiding me through the onboarding process. Throughout my deployment, they continued to check-in and update me on any changes or updates, which was incredibly helpful."

The team at HQ understands that working as an Emergency Nurse can be challenging, and they provided me with the resources and support I needed to feel confident in my role."

Tori Prendergast, Emergency Nurse

HELPR-1

Providing both land and sea-based capabilities, HELPR-1 is a health and logistics response vessel, flagged and based in Vanuatu. Her design enables emergency response, but her true value is in the daily support of full-time outreach programs in health, climate change, and disaster preparedness.

Her onboard medical facilities, communications capability, response equipment, storage capacity, and accommodation for up to 52 people, coupled with Respond Global's extensive experience in healthcare and disaster response, are unique in the Pacific.
